Extension Agent Educational Inservice Presentations

Evaluations of both Extension inservice training sessions and presentations/workshops to Extension clientele have consistently been positive. A key to these types of evaluations has been knowing who the audience is and understanding not only their expectations for the presentation, but also their known and, in many cases, their unknown needs. A variety of approaches have been utilized in workshop/training session settings including experiential exercises, classroom type lecture, and problem-solving or role-playing issues based activities. While no evaluation scores are reported for the inservice training programs listed below, a representative set of evaluation scores can be found under the Computerized Financial Record Keeping training workshops found on pages 15-16 of this document.
