NEW FRONTIERS UPDATE

July 2024

It's hard to believe summer is almost over, and the fall semester will begin in less than a month. We anticipate our students' arrival and excitement as they start their semester in new Agricultural Hall. In preparation for the fall semester, most of us in the newly named Legacy Hall are packing our offices to move into the new building as next week marks the milestone for "final" completion when we can start occupying the building with people.

During the past couple of weeks, we've seen a lot of progress on the construction site. The Agricultural Hall lettering was installed on the front entryway of the building, and the construction fence was removed around the entire facility. Final touches are being made inside the building. I encourage you to view the photos documenting this work in the "Building Progress" section below.

the world. OSU is home to one of the top wheat breeding programs in the world, led by the Wheat Improvement Team. With the launch of the Agronomy Discovery Center project, OSU will soon see much-needed facility updates at the OSU Agronomy Research Station to support the Wheat Improvement Team and its mission to strengthen the wheat industry. On August 9, we will have a special announcement to share exciting news about the OSU Agronomy Research Station. Stay tuned.

Enjoy the rest of your summer.
