

AGRICULTURE

NEWS AND UPDATES

November 2024

In this season of gratitude, Christy and I want to thank the OSU Agriculture family for a wonderful and prosperous year. It's hard to believe it's been over a year since we transitioned back to Stillwater and received such a warm welcome.

This semester has been packed full of events, activities and monumental celebrations. We recently held the Ferguson College of Agriculture Homecoming Celebration and recognized our 10, 25 and 50-year graduates. It was heartwarming to see so many of our alumni come back home to our new Ag Hall for the celebration. We anticipate finishing the semester strong, and I can't wait to see what the future holds for OSU Agriculture.

As Thanksgiving grows near, so does Giving Tuesday, a global movement that inspires people to give, collaborate and celebrate generosity. On Dec. 3, I encourage you to support OSU

Wishing you and your family a happy, healthy and hearty Thanksgiving.

Jayson Lusk

Jayson Lusk
Vice President and Dean
OSU Agriculture

Homecoming Celebration Highlights

In the News

Minnie Lou Bradley

Minnie Lou Bradley, an OSU distinguished alumna, discusses 70 years of ranching progress in an OSU Extension webinar.

Read More about Bradley

Seniors of Significance

Ferguson College of Agriculture seniors were recently named Oklahoma State University Seniors of Significance.

Read More about Seniors

One Health Lab

A new research laboratory tied to The Innovation Foundation at OSU is advancing OSU Ag Research's mission.

Read More about One Health

New Extension Site

OSU Extension in Tulsa County breaks ground on a new downtown facility on the OSU-Tulsa campus.

Read More about Tulsa Extension

SUNUP - Livestock Marketing

Kurtis Hair, SUNUP producer/director, talks to Derrell Peel, OSU Extension livestock marketing specialist, about how the rain may not help much with wheat pasture, but it will help cow-calf operations with available water sources.

Oklahoma Gardening - Season Recap

Casey Hentges, Oklahoma Gardening host, recaps the 2024 season and gives a sneak peek of what's to come in 2025.

Photo Highlight

Isaac Manley, assistant herd manager, rides on horseback during the recent Livestock & Range Field Day.

AGRICULTURE